MARCH 2004

ISSUE #2

- SIMPLE HERBALS
- NOURISHMENT
- HEALING WAYS

• RECLAIMING
OUR SELVES!

★ Introduction ★

• BURDOCK • This Zine's Focus is on Healing and Empowerment; Reclaiming and transforming the ways we nourish and heal ourselves and loved ones. Through the use of curatives such as Herbal Remedies, Yoga, Meditation, Art, Exercise, Sex, Community, and whatever else we can live Full and Vibrant lives. • BURDOCK • is inspired by the healing power of NURTURE AND LOVE.

Burdock (Arctium lappa) is a plant that grows wild and free all over the world. She has been revered for her deep transformative healing. On my herbal journey I've come to be close allies with Burdock (more on this later...). She reminds us to slow down, listen, and trust in our abilities to "Search for and find nourishment for the deepest parts of ourselves, and to offer deep healing to others." (Gail Faim Edwards) Her stories are ancient and she speaks to our cells. I truly adore this plant and the wild gifts she offers me. In return, I hope that those who read this zine gain some tools to carry with them and are nourished by the wild gifts unfolding ~~~~

★ Long Life Soup ★★ from Karla Wheeler =

- 2 onions chopped
- garlic to taste, 2-3 cloves
- olive oil
- water, chicken stock, veg. stock
- 3 sticks of astragalus
or 1/2 cup sliced fresh root
- 2 ounces licii
- 1 ounce ginseng (any)
- 1 fresh or 2 ounces dandelion root
- 4 fresh or 4 ounces burdock root
- grated ginger root about 1 tablesp.
- 8 shiitake mushrooms
- 1/2 cup seaweed (dried) if desired
- miso to taste

Sauté onions and garlic in olive oil, add water and bring to boil. Add herbs and mushrooms, and seaweed, turn down the heat and simmer for several hours. When roots are tender, turn off heat. If most of the herbs are green, then add more.

And enjoy. If the herbs were dried, strain the plant material leaving the broth because the roots might be too tough to chew, then add your miso and be nourished. Blessed be. ~~~~

About This Issue:

THIS ISSUE OF BURDOCK • IS FOCUSED ON THE HEALTH OF OUR SKIN AND THE THREE TRADITIONS OF HEALING: WISE WOMAN, HERBIC, AND SCIENTIFIC. IT HAS TAKEN ME OVER 2 MONTHS TO GET THIS ALL TOGETHER AND FOR ME TO FIND TIME TO CREATE AND WRITE THIS ISSUE. I AM LEARNING SO MUCH AT SCHOOL AND STAYING VERY BUSY. I HOPE ALL WHO READS THIS FINDS IT EXCITING!

RECIPES

* Simple Herbal Salve *

Infuse lavender, calendula, yarrow, and chamomile in olive oil, using either freshly picked or a sunny day or dried material. Plant material must be completely free from moisture to prevent oil spoilage. Infuse for 6 weeks in tightly sealed jar. Then drain off material.

Next, gently heat infused oil, adding small chunks of beeswax. Test thickness by pouring a drop, letting cool, then add more wax if you want it thicker. Let the wax completely melt, do not boil or over heat. Pour into containers. Add essential oil if you wish, let cool, then enjoy on your beautiful skin.

Simple Rice And Burdock Dish

- 1 burdock root
- 4 cups water
- 2 cups brown rice
- pinch salt
- clean root.
- cut into pieces
- and soak.

As our energy field spins around and through our bodies, we also have "energy centers" called chakras that correlate with the functions of the surrounding physical organs. Our third chakra is located in the area of our solar plexus. This chakra correlates with our liver and is considered our personal power center, a place where we store emotions (energy). Concerning our self confidence, self image, personal will and strength. Taking this into account on my journey to healthy skin I've begun using affirmations that confirm my self confidence, my place in the world and that I heal and transform my sense of self. This chakra also correlates with the color yellow. The sun, fire, solar energy, power, life force, dandelions, bliss, citrine crystals, yellow dock, gold, endurance, laughter....

HONOR ONESELF

OTHER TIPS FOR SKIN CARE:

- + SAUNAS! whenever you can + olive oil used instead of lotion
- + WITH HAZEL (astringent cleanser) + GREEN CLAY used AS A MASK
- + LOTS OF WATER!!!
- + AVOID Alcohol, SUGAR, Refined Foods, AND Cigarette SMOKE..
- + LOVE YOURSELF IMMENSELY + SEAWeed

SIMPLE YOGA TO TONE, STRETCH, AND STRENGTHEN OUR ENDOCRINE/ADRENAL SYSTEM AND LIVER

JUST AS IN EVERYTHING WE DO IN OUR LIVES, WE MUST HONOR AND LISTEN TO OUR BODIES AND INTUITION WHILE DOING YOGA. HERE IS A GENTLE SERIES TO GET THINGS FLOWING IN OUR BODIES.

THIS SERIES GOES ALONG WITH THE SECTION ON SKIN CARE LATER IN THIS ISSUE. POSE #1 IS A WONDERFUL WAY TO OPEN UP OUR ABDOMEN. IF IT IS TOO STRENUOUS ON YOUR KNEES ONLY TOLD ONE AT A TIME THEN SWITCH.

POSE #2, DON'T ATTEMPT TO HOLD YOUR LEGS INTO LOTUS IF THERE IS ANY PAIN, SIMPLE CROSSED LEGS WOULD DO.

MAKE SURE YOUR BACK IS WELL SUPPORTED IN POSES 1, 2, 3. USE BLANKETS AND PILLOWS. HOLD FOR AS LONG AS IT IS COMFORTABLE.

In Poses #7, 8 make sure you feel well supported. add another layer if needed.

These poses should feel comfortable and pleasurable. Poses 9, 10 should be done with caution and awareness.

Do NOT do any pose that causes pain or over stretching.

These two poses are especially beneficial to your endocrine system.

Pose #11 is simple and should be done at the end of your practice. hold for at least 5 minutes, follow the rhythm of your breath.

Relax your entire body. Let go and see your body, feel your body as whole, holy, perfect, shining, beautiful and supple. Namaste * health or my skin more than anything.

GOING DEEPER: you see, our bodies ARE pure energy. We contain and are surrounded by an electro-magnetic energy field that contains information.

We are constantly communicating with the world around us through this energy system and are affected deeply by the language and images (POWER) we are surrounded with, either nurturing or destructive.

Practitioners of energy medicine believe that the human energy field contains and reflects each individual's energy. It surrounds us and carries within us the emotional energy created by our internal and external experiences—

both positive and negative. This emotional force influences our physical tissue within our bodies.

In two ways your biography— that is, the experiences that make up your life—becomes your biology.

Having "bad skin". In truth my skin is healthy and beautiful, yet I have been led (by myself, family, media, etc) the language that I have "bad skin" and therefore unattractive, unworthy, and unacceptable. Making the connection between this abusive language and the health of my skin has been life changing. I had to realize that my body will manifest exactly what I ask for, even if it is destructive or incredibly beautiful.

With this understanding I have begun to transform my self-talk and use what some call, affirmations.

Several times a day, as often as I desire, I tell myself that my skin is beautiful, healthy, supple, vibrant, and resilient. I tell myself that my liver is healthy, functioning, supple, and vibrant. Now, I use these types of affirmations whenever I am ill or feeling stressed.

Walking The Spiral Path

Being taught to ignore, silence and even ~~bury~~ my personal power and abilities has left me feeling lost and deeply injured. It is something of struggle to reclaim and keep alive my inner light, my passions, my instincts and intuition. The act of actually seeking memories, uncovering hidden wisdom and insight, giving voice to my SELF, and honoring my inner wild wise woman is one of challenge and courage. To do this: to want out, to sort through, to question, and carve out a place for my self to thrive in a culture focused on dominance, materialism, and ignorance is the deepest expression of LOVE for myself, community, and global village.

Remembering the ways of our ancestors carries me back home, restores my visions, and empowers me to awaken to my power. Guided by the light of my intuition I walk the spiral path. The path of integrity, of inclusion, of nourishment. The path of the □ wise woman. Giving pulse to my curiosity, my dreams, my art. Encompassing all, embracing all possibilities, cherishing the nourishment of ourselves is the way of the wise woman. The wise woman way asks us to trust in ourselves and asks us to honor the deep uniqueness of all life.

Inspired by the work of Susan Weed, I wish to tell you of the three traditions of healing that go beyond

The split between modern western medicine and alternatives. The wise woman tradition focuses on nourishment, interconnectedness, and integration.

mis-tradition is a new and ancient healing way that is forever changing and dancing the spiral path. "Trust yourself."

The Heroic Tradition is usually the way of alternative health care practitioners. The way of the hero, the savior, the way of purging, cleansing, detoxifying.

The heroic tradition is one of punishing and punishment. "Trust me."

The Scientific Tradition is a linear path. one of measurement, testing, and prediction. Those of us trained in the scientific tradition walk the straight path of the knife, to analysis and repeatable methods. "Trust my machine"

Thinking go beyond the arena of health care and healing. They are intricately woven into our political systems, religions, psychologies, teaching styles, etc.

In my life, I have turned to each tradition when I've needed to. I turned to the scientific when I needed surgery. I've ran to the nearest hero to be "saved". And

I've called upon myself for nourishment, council, and strength. As the ways of the wise woman begin to unfold and re-emerge from the depths I am reminded that

It is from the wise woman we have come and it is to her we are returning. More and more as each tradition interweaves the threads the wise women have woven we open the way to an integrative, interconnected understanding of all life, way into the cosmos.

In the heroic tradition we are asked to follow rules, strictly obeying each step to purification and discipline. We are seen as duty, Systems, our health "care" & our Political system have been based on what is measurable, preventable and what is suitable for upper class, young white men.

As I listen I hear her calling, I begin to sing her song, my feet begin to dance and I know I am walking the spiral path of the wise woman. In a language so ancient, so new she rises and re-emerges from the depths calling us to our memories.

Remember the Beauty Way, the loving way, the way of nourishment and integration. Remember the Beauty and tenderness of Death. Remember the scent of blood and life between your thighs. Remember the songs we sing for each season, each journey, each rain cloud and tear. Remember the loving relationship of the Divine Feminine and masculine. Remember when there was no separation. Remember your truth, dear ones. Remember your unique blessedness and wild partnership with all life. Know that as you walk you are spinning. And returning to the spiral dance.

Any imbalance they are all affected. Put together with poor eating habits, intense hormonal fluctuations can be taxing on an already stressed body. I say "already stressed body" because the majority of us aren't eating whole nourishing foods or drinking water that isn't ridden with chemicals harmful to our bodies or being taught to fully accept ourselves and live our lives from a place of love, nature, and dignity.

Adult acne can also be a result of hormonal imbalances or liver disturbances; as well as bacterial or fungal infection in the dermis layer of the skin. The nourishment and strengthening of our liver and endocrine system is imperative to the vibrancy of our skin and our entire body.

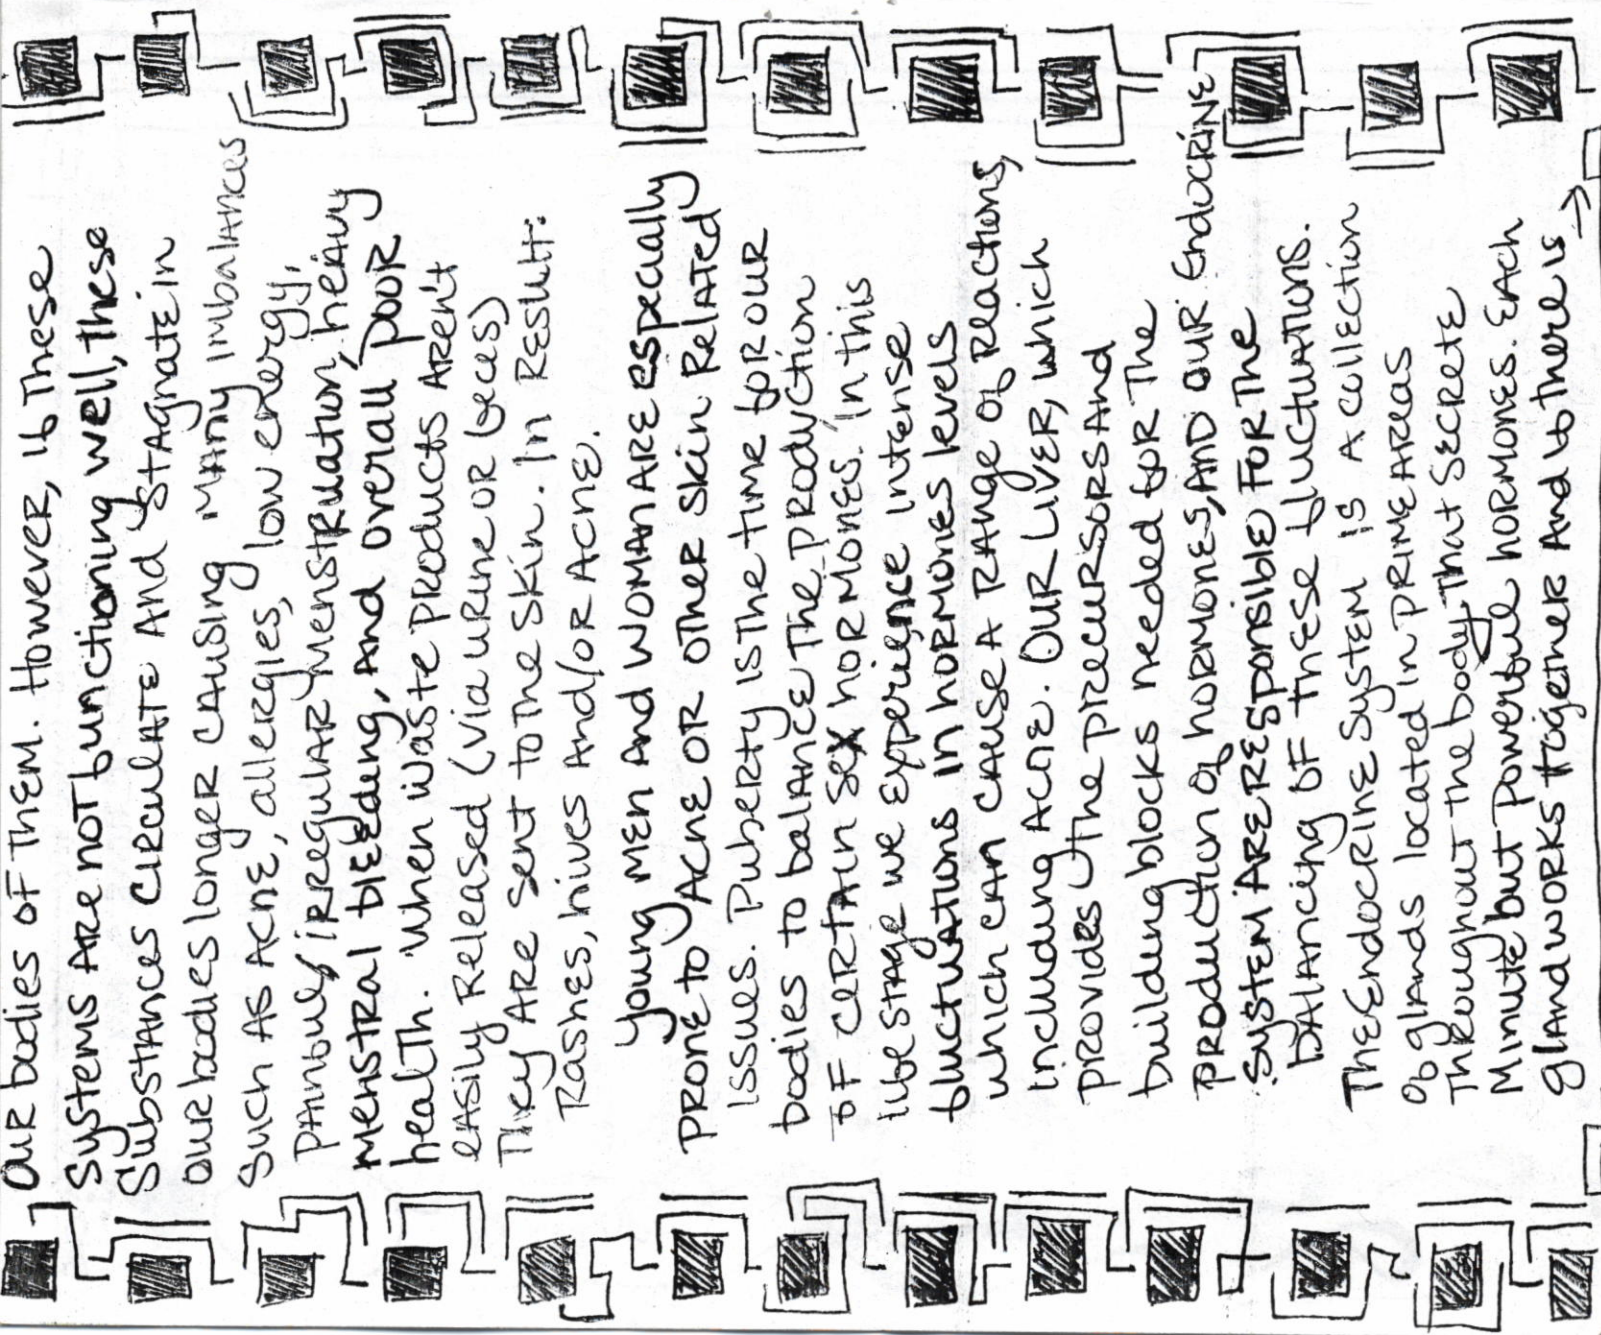

* AS WITHIN, SO WITHOUT *

OUR HERBAL ALLIES

As I began to seek nourishment for my liver and endocrine system I discovered my herbal friends to be quite important in this process. Along with making supportive dietary

OUR BODIES OF THEM. HOWEVER, IF THESE SYSTEMS ARE NOT FUNCTIONING WELL, THESE SUBSTANCES CIRCULATE AND STAGNATE IN OUR BODIES LONGER CAUSING MANY IMBALANCES SUCH AS ACNE, ALLERGIES, LOW ENERGY, PAINFUL IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, HEAVY MENSTRUAL BLEEDING, AND OVERALL POOR HEALTH. WHEN WASTE PRODUCTS AREN'T EASILY RELEASED (VIA URINE OR FECES) THEY ARE SENT TO THE SKIN. IN RESULT: RASHES, HIVES AND/OR ACNE.

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN ARE ESPECIALLY PRONE TO ACNE OR OTHER SKIN RELATED ISSUES. PUBERTY IS THE TIME FOR OUR BODIES TO BALANCE THE PRODUCTION OF CERTAIN SEX HORMONES. IN THIS AGE STAGE WE EXPERIENCE INTENSE FLUCTUATIONS IN HORMONE LEVELS WHICH CAN CAUSE A RANGE OF REACTIONS, INCLUDING ACNE. OUR LIVER, WHICH PROVIDES THE PRECURSORS AND BUILDING BLOCKS NEEDED FOR THE PRODUCTION OF HORMONES, AND OUR ENDOCRINE SYSTEM ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE BALANCING OF THESE FLUCTUATIONS. THE ENDOCRINE SYSTEM IS A COLLECTION OF GLANDS LOCATED IN PRIME AREAS THROUGHOUT THE BODY THAT SECRETE MINUTE BUT POWERFUL HORMONES. EACH GLAND WORKS TOGETHER AND TO THERE IS

Kin Care

ON MY OWN JOURNEY TO IMPROVING THE HEALTH OF MY SKIN I HAVE FOUND THAT THE HEALTH OF MY LIVER AND ENDOCRINE SYSTEM, INFLUENCED BY DIETARY CHOICES, IS THE FOUNDATION FOR UNDERSTANDING ALL TYPES OF SKIN ISSUES, INCLUDING ACNE.

IN THIS SECTION I WANT TO SHARE MY UNDERSTANDINGS OF: NUTRITION, THE FUNCTIONS OF OUR LIVER, WHOLE SELF IMAGE, HERBAL ALLIES, AND ENERGY HEALING ASSOCIATED TO THE VIBRANCY OF OUR LARGEST ORGAN, THE SKIN.

 WE ARE BEAUTIFUL BEINGS; CREATIVE AND ABLE ***

OUR LIVER AND OUR DIETARY CHOICES

SURELY WE'VE ALL HEARD THE TERM "YOU ARE WHAT YOU EAT" AND PERHAPS A FEW OF US HAVE WRITTEN IT ON A ASSUME NEW AGE MUMBO JUMBO. WELL, THE TRUTH IS WHAT WE PUT INTO OUR BODIES PROFOUNDLY INFLUENCES WHO WE ARE AND HEALTH OF OUR OVERALL WELL BEING. NOT ONLY DOES THE FOOD WE EAT AFFECT WHO WE ARE

It Shapes our very Existence.
At the beginning of my journey to improving the health of my skin, I looked towards popular products such as 'Noxema' and considered taking medications to "cure" acne. The profitting corporations so concerned with the "curing" of acne fail to mention nourishment, nutrition, and whole self image. The link between poor nutritional habits supported by this culture and our overall well being is rarely made. Being able to make the connection between dietary choices and the vitality of my skin has changed my life.

Over the last couple years, within my desire to know and love my body, I began to take note of different responses I'd have after eating certain foods. Sugary, greasy foods make my skin feel itchy and irritated; Alcohol makes my skin feel tired; And luscious, whole foods make me feel beautiful and vibrant. After eating foods that are highly refined and loaded with sugar, hydrogenated oils, preservatives, etc. pimples or itchy hives appear on my skin (usually my face).

I have come to understand that these reactions I have to do with the functions of my LIVER, primarily.

Our liver is considered to be the seat of our metabolic processes. Everything we eat, drink or ingest is processed by our liver. This function helps rid our bodies of metabolic waste products and harmful substances and to assimilate and distribute vitamins and minerals to the rest of our body. Healthy hormonal activity is also highly dependent on the liver. Our liver is said to perform over 500 different functions! Derived from the Anglo-Saxon word "TO LIVE", our livers are responsible for the flow of energy and life force in our bodies.

With the increased consumption of highly processed foods, sugar, caffeine, white flour, pesticides and the increase of environmental poisons in our daily lives we see an increase of the many epidemic diseases ranging from acne to cancer that plague our industrialized culture. When these substances are ingested our liver, kidneys, skin and lymphatic system are responsible for ridding →
